Geocaching

Urban nature walk

at

Volkspark Friedrichshain

Invitation 2

Motion on the surface

Look around and walk towards the direction which is calling you. Take a few steps until you find a place where you feel at home and comfortable. Feel free to take a seat.

Now take two beings/objects which are placed right in front of you and are free to pick up (please don't pick plants which are still growing) - one with your left hand and one with your right hand. Pay attention to whatever is in your hands, feel the texture, feel the weight. What do these two beings/things look like? Is there anything that strikes you in particular?

Now think about the relation between whatever is in your hands. Do they have anything in common? In which way do they differ from each other? Is there any story in the past they could have shared together? Take a moment to collect your thoughts and dare to be experimental and creative.

Put the beings/object back to where you got them from and think about how you will be connected to these two from now…

KulturNest e.V.

Placing Nature at the Centre of Culture in Europe

KulturNest e.V. is a Berlin-based non-profit organisation that believes in the power of bottom-up initiatives, creativity and civic participation to create meaningful social change. We design and facilitate learner-centred, non-formal educational experiences that connect people with one another, with nature and with their own capacity to shape the world around them. Our interdisciplinary team of artists, forest therapists, facilitators, youth workers and other practitioners works collaboratively with communities to create empowering spaces for learning, co-creation, wellbeing and social connection.